

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XX.

STANFORD, KY., TUESDAY, JUNE 28, 1892.

NO. 35

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—Rev. Tom Bash preached at the Methodist church Sunday morning.

—For Sale.—An immense stock of loafers and street corner politicians. Will sell cheap or exchange for a good coon dog. Apply to the mayor of Lancaster, Ky.

—The tin shop and stock of hardware of the late R. S. Haselden was sold at auction today. Raymond Haselden became the purchaser and will continue the business at the old stand.

—Immense crowds attended each of Barnes' services last week. To-night, Monday, and to-morrow night, he will deliver his lecture on the Lost Tribes. Wednesday morning he will leave for Green River Springs.

—Mr. R. E. Hughes, who has so ably edited the Central Record, left last week for Atlanta, where he will probably locate. Bob is an energetic, straightforward young gentleman and that he will make a success goes without saying.

—The Central Record has been sold to Indiana parties, who will take charge the first of next month and continue to run the paper. We failed to learn the names of the gentlemen, but the paper will continue to be democratic in politics.

—Circuit Clerk W. B. Mason has returned from the big Chicago convention somewhat the worse for wear, but still in the ring. Bake Walker, of Kirksville, was in town Sunday. Mrs. J. H. Woodcock and son, Will, of Danville, are attending the Barnes meetings. They are guests of the family of Judge J. C. Hemphill. Mr. R. Scott Hudson and wife, of Lower Garrard, visited Mrs. J. E. Stormes Sunday. Miss Jennie Warren, of Stanford, is visiting her aunt, Miss Jennie Duncan.

—At an election held in Frederick county, Va., on the 24th of July, 1887, George Washington was a candidate to represent that county in the House of Burgesses. He received 310 votes, or 70 more than were cast for the next highest candidate. It is related that he had to foot a bill of election expenses of $195, the chief items of which were a hog's head and a barrel of punch, 35 gallons of wine and 43 gallons of strong cider and dinner for his friends. If it required this extraordinary amount of punch wine, hard cider and dinner to secure only 310 votes, it becomes an interesting question as to what would have been the cost of an election in which the people of a State or Nation took part. The old time custom of treating at elections has fortunately become a thing of the past. Back in the forties candidates for the Legislature in Kentucky opened regular bar-rooms at each voting precinct, where free whisky was dispensed to any and all comers who were supposed to favor the candidate who supplied the material of war. Open bowls of whisky were stationed on the corners of the streets and water with ice, mint and tin cups made ready for every passer by. Barbecues were prepared in the country at which the candidates addressed their hungry and thirsty fellow citizens, each proclaiming to the best of his ability his peculiar fitness for office, after which those who were destitute of the change necessary to pay for their dinner were invited to partake of the same at the expense of the one for whom he was expected to cast his vote. It is evident that eating and drinking entered largely into every canvass and the candidate who ignored such persuasive arguments was more than likely to be left in the rear on election day. Another feature of an old-time election was that it lasted three days. This enabled the voter who was fond of excitement and enjoyed a social glass to get three times as much out of an election as under the present mode where it is confined to a single day. Many an old rooster would come to town and after imbibing and voting, would continue his potations for the entire three days regardless of the solicitude that might exist in his family in the country at his extraordinary absence, giving as a reason for his so doing the fact that he desired to know the final result before returning to his home. It would have been impossible for one of these old comers to have given a sensible reason for his wonderful anxiety to know the outcome of an election for the Legislature as there was nothing in his business relations, his social surroundings, or his earthly welfare and happiness that had the remotest connection with the question of whether John Smith or Tom Jones was the successful candidate. But while the political methods have somewhat changed, it is possible that the world is no better for the change. If not reached through the appetite, arguments that are utterly inconsistent with sound morality are used to corrupt the ballot and men who stand high in church and State do not hesitate to endorse whatever is necessary to success, whether commendable or otherwise.

—A heavy rainfall caused the Galena river to rise and flood Galena, Ill. The lower floor of every business house in the city was flooded and two bridges were washed away.

CLEVE & STEVE.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

A. E. STEVENSON.

DANVILLE.

—G. D. Masonheimer has started a shoemaker's shop near the depot in part of Jo Faulconer's store room.

—Senator Breckinridge thinks that the conference report on the judicial districts will not be adopted.

—A league game between the Interior Journals and Danvilles will be played here to-morrow, Tuesday, beginning at 3 p. m.

—A State meeting of representatives of the colored Christian church was in session here several days last week. The principal subject of deliberation was "The Best Manner of Conducting Evangelistic Work."

—Mr. Ed Sandifer, who was sunstruck Friday morning, is recovering slowly, but will be unable to leave his room for at least a week. Mrs. James P. Holmes, of Bonham, Texas, is visiting her mother, Mrs. A. S. Robertson, Sr. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hann, of Denton, Texas, are visiting Danville friends.

—Last Thursday, at Junction City, Harbin Belden, a boy 15 years old, was fooling with a pistol when it went off, the ball, a 32 calibre, entering the face of a two-year old child of Mr. Hurst, a blind man. The ball entered just below the right eye and taking a rather downward course, came out at the upper part of the neck. The physicians and everybody who saw the child supposed it would die in a short time, but strange to say it recovered from the shock and is now walking about apparently but little disturbed by the wound, which is healing rapidly.

—Mr. St. George H. Smith, a well-known journeyman tailor, has quit his trade and taken employment with the Blue-Grass Cycle Company, of Lexington. Mr. Smith is an Englishman and a very sprightly man, who totally lost his hearing several years ago. Miss Anna Spears, of the Fulton, M. C. B. & D. Institute, is spending her vacation with friends in Danville and Boyle county. Mr. Rice Cavan has returned from Harvard Medical College, of Boston, where he has been attending lectures since last September. Mr. A. E. Gibbons has been appointed common school trustee in place of C. N. Smith, resigned.

—Rev. W. Y. Sheppard, rector of Trinity church, died at his residence on Third street, Friday evening at 6 o'clock from the effects of a sunstroke received at Lexington several days before. Deceased was born in Richmond, Va., and was about 45 years old. He was educated at the Virginia Military Institute. During the war he served in the Confederate army. Afterwards he taught school. While living at Albuquerque, New Mexico, he entered the ministry and for a time had charge of a church in that city. His first charge in Kentucky was at Richmond. From there, about two years ago, he came to Danville and during the greater part of his residence here has also been pastor of the church at Harrodsburg. He has in this time organized congregations at Somerset and other places and has been a tireless and zealous worker in his chosen calling. He was of a cheerful, happy disposition and a man whom people loved the more they knew him. Two daughters and a son and his wife survive him. The remains were taken to Richmond, Va., Saturday, for burial.

—Jacob Harvey was very artistically executed in the Ohio penitentiary for the murder of a woman.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Rev. P. A. Sowell, of Danville, will preach at the Methodist church next Sunday.

—Brooklyn celebrated the 79th anniversary of Beecher's birth by unveiling a bronze statue of him in City Hall Park.

—The Elizabethtown Baptist church is the oldest Baptist church between the Rocky and the Allegheny mountains. It was organized June 18, 1781, making it 111 years old.

—The Somerset Reporter's railroad correspondent says that the railroad men there paid Rev. Geo. O. Barnes' expenses while there and gave him a purse of $100 when he left.

—The Rev. George W. Dennis, pastor of the Methodist Church South, Louisville, was run over by a passenger train at Chestnut and 14th street and received injuries that may prove fatal.

—The union service next Sunday night will be held at the Methodist church, Rev. Ben Helm preaching the sermon. The singers of town are asked to meet at the Methodist church, Thursday night, for choir practice.

—The sermon of Mr. Joe Severance, Jr., at McCormack's, Sunday, is much complimented. That he has chosen the ministry for his life work is a source of great gratification to his mother, who has striven as hard and succeeded as well in raising her children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord as any we know of.

—The Bishop's Letter is the name of the new official organ of the Diocese of Kentucky. It is edited by Rt. Rev. Thomas C. Dudley, D. D., and its design is to disseminate information among the Churchmen of the diocese concerning the works of the church in the diocese because interest must always be proportioned to knowledge. It is to be a monthly chronicle of family history; it will contain records and accounts of the doings of the family, over which, the bishop as the head of the household presides. It is quite a unique and interesting publication and as it is sent at 25 cents a year, it ought to go into every Episcopal family in Kentucky.

—The news of the rather sudden death of Rev. W. Y. Sheppard, pastor of Trinity church, Danville, was received here with deep sorrow by those who knew and loved him for his warm heartedness to his fellow man and his thorough devotion to the cause of his Master. Frail in body, with disease gnawing at his vitals, he was ever apparently light hearted and happy and neither storms nor sickness prevented him from coming and speaking words of consolation to his little flock at this place. He drove up one of the worst days of last winter to fill an appointment and this paper took occasion to say at the time that Bro. Sheppard will certainly wear the crown for the cross he suffers in this life to do what he feels to be his duty. He often said that he was happier in the work of trying to save souls than he was when the possessor of hundreds of thousands of dollars and that he would not for worlds have his money back if its return meant his return to the beggarly elements of the world. During the long illness of the writer's devoted wife, he was up many times to see her and when her dear eyes closed in death he was among the first to offer sympathy and point to the Healer of the terrible wounds. Peace to his memory. He died in the harness, working for the Master he loved so well and now with the loved ones, who had gone before, wears the crown of eternal life. May his faithful wife and children find the comfort and consolation in this that is promised to them that love the Lord their Danville correspondent supplies the details of his life and death.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

—The bill fixing the governor's salary at $3,500, without any perquisites beyond a house to live in, is a special order for Wednesday and ought to be made the law.

—The honors were easy in the House yesterday, there being 50 members present and 50 absent. Business seems to have progressed quite well, however, considering the intense heat and the absence of a quorum.—Frankfort Capital.

—Hon. Ed. Parker, who it has been reported, will resign his seat in the State Senate immediately and then go to the Pacific slope; writes us that the report is a mistake and that he will serve his full term out Harrodsburg Harrodsburg.

—The Legislature has been in session 178 days, has passed one important bill and has cost, in round numbers, about $200,000. Three more important bills remain to be passed and at the same rate it will take till next June to pass them.

A. W. Billings, of Ohio go, offers to wager $20.00 that Cleveland will be elected and that he will carry New York, Illinois and Wisconsin. Mr. Billings has a prophetic Senator Quay to put up with. $10,000 he offered to bet on Harrison. Senator Quay now has the floor.

LIBERTY, CASEY COUNTY.

—It is just too hot for either air or news to stir and it is too hot to hunt for news.

—Dr. L. S. Bartlett, of Brodhead, has been at Geo. A. Prewitt's for several days. John T. Brown has resumed his old blacksmith stand on Hintonville street.

—According to reports of Dr. O. H. McRoberts, there is much sickness prevailing in this section, mostly of a malarial nature. Mrs. Kate Myers is reported on the mend. Mrs. Mattie McRoberts, reported better in our last, has been very sick this week and confined to her bed.

—Robert E. Tarrant, aged 11 years, having very irregular teeth, being overlapped, crowded and out of line, after being under dental surgery here for more than three weeks, returned home, near Mt. Salem, with his incisors, molars and grinders much improved, but somewhat feeble from the prevailing malarial troubles.

—Notwithstanding the disagreeable weather cupid is always busy. On last Wednesday morning a young Mr. Wetington and a Miss Clemens, from the Catholic neighborhood on Casey's Creek, passed through here en route to take the train at Yosemite, but on reaching there were behind time. P. H. Taylor, however, furnished them a vehicle to McKinney and here again they were behind the passenger train's time. But love laughs at other obstacles besides locksmiths, so they mounted the first freight train that passed and proceeded to the first Gethna Green beyond the borders in Tennessee, where everything is presumed to have been fixed up legally and right, according to the statutes of our sister State. But misfortunes never come singly. On reaching McKinney on their return, they missed other conveyances and were compelled to take passage on the Liberty back, which was unheavily loaded with goods boxes, so there was only room on the front seat for the bride with the aged driver and his little grand son, and the groom was compelled to take a cramped position in the rear. But the groom could not stand this short separation long. After riding about half a mile, by mutual consent they dismounted and took it about the rest of the way to Yosemite, hand in hand, as all true lovers should travel, throughout the long, tedious and wearisome journey of life.

HUBBLE.

—William Hubble sold some 200-lb. hogs to D. N. Prewitt a few days ago at 4 cents.

—Dr. Kinnaird presented Daniel East with a fine girl, the first one in the family, a few days ago.

—Wheat about all harvested here and is the best we have had for some years, with the exception of some sown in a few crops.

—Dr. Steele Bailey was here last Saturday and examined some of Mr. Eastland's applicants for life insurance. Among them were S. Danbar and E. L. Miller.

—Doc Kice has returned home from where he has been attending school. Dr. Carpenter has been called to see Richard Withers' little girl, who has been very ill of fever for a few days, but is thought to be some better now.

—Misses Sue Woods and Annie Bronnagh Englishman visited relatives here last week and made the young men smile to meet them. Mrs. Susan Menefee, who has been on the puffy list for a few days, is on foot again. The Misses Adams, of Hintonville, are visiting friends in this community. Drs. Bronnagh and Peyton think that Mrs. W. H. Underwood will be up soon after a long illness during which her many friends have missed her so much. G. A. Swinebroad expects to go into the sheep trade very extensively soon, having several hundred bought in Tennessee already. Miss Sue Gentry was called to Harrodsburg last week to attend her sick sister.

—The court of appeals reversed the judgment of the Knox circuit court sentencing Elliott Baker, for life, for the murder of his uncle.

The presidential ticket nominated at Chicago seems to give universal satisfaction. Everybody was and is for the fore end and the more that is heard of the hind end the better it is liked. Gen. Stevenson was born in Christian county, Ky., Oct. 23, 1835, and is a first cousin of our own Jim McKenzie. He is a graduate of Centre College and lives at Bloomington, Ill., where he enjoys not only the love and confidence of the people, but a large and lucrative law practice. Although the district is overwhelmingly republican, he has represented it twice in Congress, the last time in 1878. He was Mr. Cleveland's first assistant postmaster general and during his term put 40,000 democrats into office. He is a firm believer in the Jacksonian theory that to the victors belong the spoils, and the boys in the trenches will love him none the less for that. On his return to Bloomington, after the convention, he was received with such a demonstration by his neighbors and friends, regardless of party affiliation, as is seldom witnessed, and to which he responded in grateful and becoming words. It is said by those who profess to know that he will carry Illinois. If he does, Cleveland will do the rest and the ticket will be elected in a grand and glorious triumph. The democracy has a winning ticket, a winning platform and it only remains for every man to see to it that the question of the size of the majority will be the only one at the close of the polls in November.

The smelling committee appointed by the House to find out "who writ that piece," reported Saturday that it had not been able to do so, but recommends that the Louisville Times be denied the courtesy of having a representative on floor, because of the publication which made invidious comparisons. Next Thursday was fixed as the day to consider the report, when all the jackasses, little and big, are expected to bray to their hearts' content. Meanwhile neither George Willis nor the paper is losing much sleep over the matter, as this from the latter shows: The place of honor and public service for The Times in that House is up a tree on the outside with a whole kin of brickbats in its hat, bombarding the money changers and dove-swappers, the Pharisees and hypocrites, the cheese-parers, mileage-grabbers and per diem-fishers, who have taken possession of the temple of the people and will never give it up until they are driven out by force.

The Kentucky delegation voted as follows for president: For Cleveland—Owens, McKenzie, Castleman, Moss, Walker, Meacham, Miller, Helm, Beard, Litsay, Bronston, Lindsay, Rhodes, Sullivan, Sharp, Northrup, Waddell and Robinson—18. For Boies—Watterson and Rhen—2. For Carlisle—Haldeman, Abraham, Torrell, Harrison, Salyer and Denham—6. The people will remember this recalcitrant eight when they come to judgment. We shall see to it ourselves that Green Denham does not have any pie for four years for disobeying our express orders as to his vote.

The bird's eye view that one gets of Midway as a C. & O. train flies through it, would hardly seem to warrant the assertion that a mighty good paper lives and thrives there, but it is the fact nevertheless. The Blue Grass Clipper is its name and it has recently had to move into larger quarters and get a large new cylinder press. Dick Godson and Joe Williams, the clever editors, will please accept our congratulations and good wishes for the blessings that have been vouchsafed to them and for those that are sure to come.

In his speech nominating Adlai E. Stevenson, of Illinois, for vice-president, Mr. Worthington said that Mr. Stevenson is too a firm believer in the doctrine that a "Public office is a public trust," but he added, he also believes that the democrats are the best trustees. While first assistant postmaster general Mr. Stevenson showed this by turning out republicans and putting good democrats in their places as fast as he could. To the victors belong the spoils is about as applicable in politics as in war.

Even the New York Sun has fallen into line and will support Cleveland, giving as the reason for it that it would be better to vote for the devil himself rather than consent to the election of respectable Benjamin Harrison, with a force bill in his pocket. Mr. Dana's previous course, however, has made his democracy very questionable and it is an open question whether his hostility is not better than his support.

It has been suggested that as Cleveland and Stevenson are such long names, each having nine letters, and by the way the same number of Cleveland and Hendricks, who were elected in 1884, that "Cleve and Steve" be the war cry. There is rhyme and reason in it. Hurrah for Cleve and Steve.

A dispatch to the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette says that Col. W. O. Bradley made one of the "most powerful and unanswerable speeches ever listened to in Lexington at the ratification meeting Friday night." Among the things that he took his rights of oratory from were Harrison's administration, a terrific arraignment of the democratic party, which he charged with suppressing the colored vote of the South, thereby making a force bill necessary, and the separate coach bill lately enacted by the Kentucky Legislature. As a friend and an admirer we warn the colonel against the advocacy of the Force bill. It is a two-edged sword that will cut him in twain if he keeps at it. The democratic press of Kentucky is exceedingly kind to Col. Bradley, but as much as it loves him, his Force bill advocacy is more than it can stand.

This is the tariff plank adopted by the National convention in lieu of the straddle offered by the committee. It was written and carried by the zeal and eloquence of Larry Neal, of Ohio, though Henry Watterson, who made a short speech for it, is given all the credit. It is a mighty good one, all the same.

"We denounce the republican protection as a fraud—the labor of the great majority of the American people for the benefit of the few. We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the democratic party that the Federal government has no constitutional power to impose and collect tariff duties except for the purpose of revenue only, and we demand that the collection of such taxes shall be limited to the necessities of the government when honestly and economically administered."

Your Uncle Allan G. Thurman, who went down with Cleveland in 1888, says he does not think there was ever a presidential candidate nominated in this country that was so completely the choice of the people as Mr. Cleveland is now. He is sure of victory, but he does not disguise the fact that Benjamin is not an easy man to beat. It is going to be a battle of giants, a campaign in which arguments and reasons will take the place of criminations and recriminations.

Speaking of Col. W. O. Bradley's loss of a $500 diamond pin at Minneapolis the Richmond Register says: "It was bad enough to be robbed on the inside of the convention of that nominating speech, but to be robbed on the outside by some light-fingered republican who was 'out for the stuff' at the convention is entirely too bad. We sympathize with the 'General' and really think his loss should be made good out of the Administration expense fund."

The New York World said before the convention and still sticks to it that Mr. Cleveland would get more votes in that State than any other candidate for the presidency. The true blue never go back on a nominee while the independent voters and the tariff reform republicans will be solid for him. The World is the paper of the people and is more nearly in touch with the public sentiment than any of the New York publications.

When a resolution was presented in the House pledging Kentucky's electoral vote to Grover Cleveland, Col. John S. May, who was presiding, declared it out of order and adjourned the body before an appeal could be taken. The colonel's fine-looking, democratic wife ought to give him a curtain lecture or take him into the woodshed for such action.

The next National convention to be held is the prohibition. It will convene at Cincinnati Wednesday and the probability is that it will hardly be up to the democratic and republican standard in numbers and enthusiasm. Gen. John Bidwell, of California, and W. Jennings Demorest, of New York, are the leading candidates for first place.

The Louisville democrats ratified the Chicago nomination by a vast open-air meeting in front of the court-house Saturday night. There were many speakers, but Hon. Henry Watterson was conspicuous for his absence. He is still skulking in his tent, or pouting like a spoiled school-boy.

The democratic candidate for vice president, Adlai Ewing Stevenson, is a native Kentuckian, graduated at Centre College and married a Kentucky woman, a daughter of Rev. L. W. Green, at one time president of that college. Of course he is a good man.

According to Mr. Watterson's two papers, both dailies, that gentleman was the big I and everybody else the little u at the Chicago convention. That may be all right. It is said that unless you blow your own horn, the same shall not be blown.

When the people speak even the intriguing politicians hear and tremble. That's why Grover Cleveland was nominated on the first ballot by 20 more than the necessary two-thirds vote. It was a grand triumph for honesty and good government.

Judge M. J. Durbin, who was heart and soul for Cleveland, is arranging for a big ratification meeting at Lexington this week. Local and imported speakers will make the welkin ring, and joy will be unconfined.

In the last election Grover Cleveland received 5,588,233 votes to Mr. Harrison's 5,440,216 and yet the latter was under the electoral vote system, declared elector. There are more democrats now than in 1888 and when over seven millions of them say in November that Mr. Cleveland is their choice, he will be inaugurated on the 4th of March, 1893.

If there was any deal by which Gray was to have second place on the ticket, Tammany is eliciting itself on knocking it out. That organization is therefore pretty well satisfied with the result and its leaders pledge undivided support to Cleve and Steve.

Quay has offered to bet $10,000 that Harrison will be elected, with no one to cover it yet. But it will get covered and don't you worry. Betting is said to be the fool's argument; if so Quay is as big a fool as he has been proven to be a knave.

A periodical to be known as Fetter's Southern Magazine, and edited by that graceful writer, Judge J. Soule Smith, will begin at Louisville in July. That it will be a good one goes without saying and its success ought to be equally assured.

NEWSY NOTES.

—Henry George says Cleveland will sweep the country on the tariff plank of the democratic platform.

—Unnatural love for one of her own sex caused Mollie Williams to commit suicide by jumping into the river at Louisville.

—During a whirlwind off Half Moon Caye, Honduras, the schooner Ring Dove was sunk and nine of her crew were drowned.

—Ex Gov. Knott says Cleveland will carry New York by a bigger majority than he or any other democrat ever received there before.

—The Chicago post-office has received four of the new electrical stamping machines. Each machine will stamp 28,000 letters an hour.

—Gold ordered for shipment Saturday from New York to Europe makes the total for the week $5,250,000, and for the last two weeks $12,250,000.

—There was a landslide at Monte Sasso, Italy, on the Bologna and Florence railroad and at last reports 30 bodies had been taken from the debris.

—Edward J. Ryan, of the United States Express Company at Washington, has disappeared with $70,000 of the company's money in bank notes.

—At Frankfort, John Daley, aged 18, was shot by a gun trap while attempting to break in Finkel Bros.' butcher shop and he died in less than an hour.

—Near Minnington two sons of John T. Hayes were shot by a man named Norris, from Illinois. One was killed instantly and the other died next day.

—Talton Hall, the Virginia desperado, who claims to have killed 20 men, has been refused a new trial by the court of appeals and the death sentence will be inflicted.

—The E. T. V. & G. and the roads it controls, including the Louisville Southern, has been placed in the hands of Receivers Henry Fink and Charles McGhee.

—At Shelbyville, Tenn., Will Bates has been arrested, charged with murdering his wife, whom he claims to have found dead on his farm. He is likely to be lynched.

—A Sueded has arrived in New York who is 74 feet high, weighs 300 pounds, wears a No. 11 hat and is only 19 years old. His name is Anders Gustav Anderson Harburg.

—Miss Bettie Montgomery, of a respectable Washington county family jumped out of the Galt House window four stories from the ground and broke her neck, when detected with a man in her room.

—The famous "snake doctor" of Arkansas, met his death at Ozark, Ark., Saturday. He attempted to catch a cotton mouth and the serpent struck him twice in the face. He died within two hours.

—Gov. Boies has sent the following telegram to Grover Cleveland: "Accept hearty congratulations of all Iowa Democrats, and be assured none will be more devoted to you than myself and those I am proud to number among my friends in this State."

—At Saturday night's democratic ratification meetings in Indiana the enthusiasm is said to have eclipsed that of the years '76 and '84. Republicans are declaring for Cleveland and there is no disaffection over the nomination of Stevenson for vice-president.

—The republican National committee met in Washington yesterday for the selection of a chairman to succeed Clarkson and to name the executive committee which will run things generally during the campaign. The president wants Clarkson to succeed himself.

—Because he discovered that the farmers' alliance is "an office holding, hood-lum annex to the democratic party," Frank McGrath, ex-president of the Kansas farmers' alliance, has renounced his allegiance to that body and returned to his old love the G. O. P.

—Mr. Cleveland learned of his nomination at his seaside home at Bazzard's Bay, Mass., having remained up with friends during the night receiving reports from the convention. He wrote a card expressing profound appreciation of the confidence and trust of the party. Hundreds of telegrams were sent him during the day.

Mr. JOSEPH S. WRIGHT, the marble man of Junction City, was here yesterday.
D. M. BOWMAN, Jr., of Mercer, joined his wife at Mr. James P. Bailey's Saturday.
Misses LEE BOHITT and Annie Sibold are visiting Mrs. A. E. Gibbons at Danville.
Mrs. JOHN S. HUGHES has gone to Rock Castle Springs to remain a month or two.
Mrs. MONTIE FOX, of Danville, was up last week to see her mother, Mrs. Alice Baughman.
Messrs. R. G. EVANS and G. T. Helm, of Danville, attended the base ball game here Friday.
Mr. G. B. COOPER left Saturday for Cumberland Falls. He joined quite a party at Hustonville.
Misses JESSIE and DORIS CAMPBELL, of Winchester, are visiting their brothers and sisters here.
H. LUDWIG, of Louisville, is visiting his sweetheart, Miss Ella May Graham, at the Colley House.
Miss JESSIE COOPER had one of her feet badly burned a few days ago by letting concentrated lye fall on it.
Mr. J. B. PAXTON spent a few days at the Keeley Cure; not, however, for the reason that people generally go there.
Mr. J. D. FARGO, of Middlesboro, is a man of taste. He was down to see one of our handsomest blondes the other day.
Miss MINNIE ELLIOT, who has taught music very successfully in a school in Texas, returned last week to her home at Kirksville.
Mr. A. J. FARR and wife will spend a few days at Crab Orchard and Green Bluff Springs, where Mr. Farr will catch a number of views for Col. Slaughter.
HAYDEN Y. GIBBS, of Shelby City, son of Capt. W. E. Gibbs, has passed the mental and physical examination and is now a cadet at West Point.
Mrs. M. B. McALISTER, Mrs. Willis L. Palmer, Orlando, Fla., and Mrs. A. E. Hundley, of Danville, are visiting the family of Mr. Robert McAlister.—Nicholasville Journal.
The roll of the conference societies showed how indelibly the personality of Mrs. S. C. Truheart is impressed upon the mission workers. Besides Nicholasville a number of societies are named in her honor.—Nicholasville Journal.
Rev. GEO. O. BAUMER, Mrs. Barnes, Misses Marie and George Barnes, Rev. W. C. Hines, wife and baby and W. S. Ferguson and mother will spend today in Stanford and be guests at the Myers House, where their friends are invited to call.
Miss MARGARET GRAHAM, who has assisted Miss Lizzie Beazley during the season in her millinery store, returned to her home in Cincinnati yesterday. Handsome in person and pleasant in manners, she has made many friends, who hope to see her back in the fall.

My fine soda water apparatus is now in operation. Call and get a glass of the best you ever tasted. A. R. Penny.

DR. L. B. COOK has greatly improved his residence on Lower Main street by remodeling it and putting on a fresh coat of paint.

G. W. GENTRY, the Lincoln colored statesman, was chosen chairman of the State Executive Committee to fight the separate coach bill.

Mrs. WILLIAM LANDGRAF, wife of the proprietor of the Ottenheim Hotel, fell from the barn loft Saturday morning and broke her right arm.

HOLMAN & McCLURE will run the stage line between Crab Orchard Springs and the depot. They will also have a livery stable at the Springs.

ATTENTION.—"Happy Jack makes this inquiry: Joe Blackburn! Where is he? We have read all the hotel arrivals from Washington to Chicago and can't hear a word. Do you reckon "Quinine Jim" has killed him?

A. T. NUNNELLEY has sold to Rice Benge, of Lancaster, his stage line between this place and Lancaster and will give possession July 1st. Mr. Benge also has the contract to carry the mail.

A GREAT deal of wheat was cut last week and it was a splendid time for it. Much remains uncut, but if the rains are not continued there won't be any standing by Saturday night. The crop is turning out even better than expected.

THE new Hotel Glyndon has been rented to a gentleman from Texas for $1,700 per year. It is hoped to open the building on September 1. The bar has been rented to Mr. George D. Weatherford, of Hustonville, for $800.—Richmond Register.

AN after-taking specimen of the Keeley Cure was here yesterday and said to a reporter that he was absolutely cured of drunkenness by every desire to drink being taken away. The blossom on his nose was fast disappearing and he looked and said he felt like a new creature.

THE large barn on Mr. Elijah Withers' place, which is rented by Four and Bright Ferrell, burned yesterday morning, with all the corn, hay, farming utensils, etc., belonging to the brothers. It is supposed to be the work of an incendiary, and as yet there is no clue. The total loss is $800.

IN less than 15 minutes after Adlai E. Stevenson was nominated for vice-president Thursday afternoon, which occurred about 6 o'clock, this paper had an account of it in its regular edition. With an accommodating telegraph man like Mr. F. L. Clifford, all things are possible to the INTERIOR JOURNAL.

MORE than a million gallons of water were pumped out of the water works springs, Friday, and the supply was never exhausted. As the railroad will require but 60,000 gallons a day and the town cannot use more than that much, it will be seen that we have water enough to supply any and all factories that may locate here.

SINCE the dog law went into effect Marshal Newland has found 17 dogs which were not registered and the consequence is Stanford has 17 canines less. There are several other dogs, he tells us, that he will send to the "happy hunting grounds" if their owners are not more particular about keeping collars and registry numbers on them.

THE Lady of Lyons will be presented by the Home Literary and Dramatic Club at Turnersville, Thursday night, 30. The young people have been rehearsing for some time and under Mrs. J. F. Gover's directions have nearly perfected themselves. It will do you good to be there. Secure reserved seats at John S. Hughes' store and take your girl.

DEN namesakes, the Interior Journals, again fell before the enemy Friday afternoon, when they were defeated 10 to 4 by the Nicholasvilles. It was not a brilliant game on either side, and the Nicholasvilles won, not by their good playing, but the bad playing of our boys. The visiting team came to but first and made three runs, which completely rattled our boys and from the effects of which they never rallied. Our battery, consisting of Holoran and Reynolds, did good work, but were not well supported and another defeat was added to their already long list. The visiting team had Conover and Roman, who did fairly good work. The boys on both sides maintained their reputation of being orderly and good natured and there was nothing done to cause even the slightest hard feelings. Mr. E. W. Smith umpired and while no one doubts his sincerity in the decisions he made, some of them were considerably rank.

WILL BURCH has secured the Crab Orchard High School and will begin teaching August 1.

JAMES A. YEAGER has purchased an interest in the livery stable of I. M. Bruce and after July 1 the firm will be Bruce & Yeager.

WE intended printing the full text of the platform adopted at Chicago, in this issue, but it is as long as the moral law, and consequently has to go over till a larger. It is good and will keep.

THE friends of Mr. Robert Harding, of Danville, are suggesting him as a probable aspirant for Congressional honors two years hence. Whether he will be a candidate or not we do not know, but he is a man of convictions and courage and is able and clean, and will have a strong following.—Jeansville Journal.

CONGRESSMAN McCREARY has a determined foe camping upon his trail. Mr. J. H. Montgomery is a candidate for Congress against him on the prohibition platform. This is a regular biennial pastime with the prohibitionists of the 8th district.—Courier-Journal. We had not heard it here.

THE Interior Journals were more fortunate in their game with the Corbin team on Saturday than they were with the Nicholasvilles on the day before. They beat the Corbins and beat them badly, the score standing 19 to 5. This gives them two games to date this year, but they are credited with only one winning in the League. The game with the Corbins was too soft a snap to make any interesting or special features. Our boys could have beaten them double as many scores, but after they found that they had the game won they did not try to play, but merely killed the time for at least half of the game.

WE heard a good democrat remark that he did not intend to vote for Grover Cleveland. Several of his surprised auditors wanted to know the reason. "He treats his wife badly and I won't vote for any man who does that!" "How on earth did you get such an idea in your head?" was asked. "From the picture in the Courier-Journal of her. The last time I saw Frankie she was as beautiful a woman as my eyes ever rested upon. Now she is ugly, worn and haggard. She must be treated badly." In vain it was explained that the change in appearance might be the fault of the artist, he would listen to no explanation. So there goes a vote and we protest against the Courier-Journal's underhanded tactics. If it doesn't want to support Grover let it stand up like a man and say so. Don't try to beat him by printing such pictures of the "uncrowned queen of American womanhood."

FARM AND TRADE ITEMS.

—P. W. Green bought of W. C. Greening a gray harness gelding for $185.

—The first sale of new wheat at Cincinnati, to be delivered July 20, was 10 cars of Kentucky No. 2 red at 78c.

—A farmer, who takes notice of such things, tells us that he counted 55 fields of corn on the pike between this place and Danville.

—L. M. Linsley has rented Adam Pence's track and will, on July 1, go regularly into the breaking and training business, in which he is expert.

—The American Derby, worth about $17,000 to the first horse, was won at Washington Park, Chicago, Saturday, by Carlbad, with Zaldivar, second and Cicero third. Carlbad is a Kentucky colt.

—M. F. Elkin bought of Mr. Hunt, a bunch of sheeps, at 4c; of J. H. McAlister a fat cow for $30, also one of Charles Daves at 2 1/2 and a bunch of fat ewes at 3c. He sold to A. C. Martin a milk cow for $30.

—Mr. James K. Helm has gathered this year over 2,000 bushels of bluegrass seed. A. T. Nunneley has also stripped about 500 bushels. The ruling price for it in the bud at present is 25 cents, but both parties are holding for more money.

—Seventy-six car-loads—1,500 cattle—were shipped over the Louisville Southern railroad from Tyrone to the Eastern markets, Tuesday. The train was in three sections and passed through Lexington to Cincinnati. This is probably the biggest shipment of cattle ever made from Kentucky.

—LANCASTER COURT.—Yesterday was about the dullist court ever seen in Lancaster. Probably 50 cattle were on the market, but only a few were sold. Prices ranged from 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 for butcher cattle, 2 1/2 for fat cattle. Four horses were sold publicly at from $22 to $30.60. The crowd was exceedingly small.

—Stanford is raising stock subscriptions for a fair company and will likely name July 12 and 13 as the dates. Our Lincoln county friends ought to be able to make a good fair. They have the stock and a splendid country around them as important factors in a successful exhibition.—Ky. Homestead.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Curtis Burnam Hume and Miss Bella Barber are to marry at Richmond July 6.

—The report of the engagement of Miss Mattie Thompson, of Harrodsburg, to Mr. W. L. Davis, of New York, which the Courier-Journal reprinted from the New York Morning Advertiser, is authoritatively denied.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

AN ORDINANCE.

At a meeting of the City Council held on the 26th of June, 1892, the following ordinance was adopted:

Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person to have or keep on hand and store at one place within the City of Stanford more than 50 pounds of powder; more than 5 pounds of dynamite or other like explosive substance; more than three barrels of coal oil or more than five gallons of gasoline or other like combustible substance, provided, however, that larger quantities of said substances may be kept and stored within the City in such places as the City Council may upon application made, designate or permit.

Section 2. Any person found guilty of violating this ordinance shall be fined not less than $5 nor more than $50 for each offense and each day any person shall keep on hand said substances in violation of this ordinance shall be and constitute a separate offense.

Section 3. This ordinance shall take effect from and after its passage and all ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

D. W. CANDEVEER, Mayor.
